MAYOR OF DOVER IS JAILED

28 KNOWN DEAD IN PARNASSUS MINE EXPLOSION

Twenty-one Victims in Kinloch Blast Identified.

FEAR 35 KILLED

Rescue Teams Report Discovery of Other Bodies.

By CARL L. TURNER.
International News Service
Staff Correspondent.
KINLOCK MINE, NEAR PARNASSUS, Pa., Mar. 22.—The known death toll of the mine gas explosion here mounted today to 28, of whom 21 have been identified.

Bodies of the unidentified victims have not been removed to the surface. Rescue teams returning from below reported discovery of the others.

No one, not even company officials themselves, know positively how many men are still in the mine. Deputy Coroner Charles F. Brush of Westmoreland county, in charge of the temporary morgue, hazarded a guess that there may be 35, but there were others who thought the number should not be that large.

A report reaching the surface to the effect that a party of four miners trapped 24 hours ago had succeeded in bracing themselves in a section and were still alive electrified the 2,000 persons clamoring for information at the gates of the Valley Camp Coal company yards here.

Rescue teams reported discovering several barriers resembling brattices. They hoped that when gas clears sufficiently to tear these away they will find a number of survivors.

Search for Living.
O. F. Taylor, superintendent of this ill-fated mine, would not say he thought many of the men not yet located might be alive, for fear of increasing the burden of the bereaved.

Foch Is Dead.

Killing the Turkey.

It Was Mellon's Plan.

The Pope's Special Train.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate.)
MARSHALL FOCH is dead. Fared well to a great warrior, a true man. He has gone and taken his wages, a name that will live in history, and the eternal gratitude of his countrymen.

IN COMMAND of all the allied armies, he had 10,000,000 men under his command, by far the greatest army gathered since men first began whole-sale killing.

And his motto, that every man should adopt, was: "THE OFFENSIVE ALWAYS."

WALL STREET, which means twenty million Americans investing and speculating in stocks, could not decide Wednesday to stay in or go out.

The cheerful game of usury, gradually drawing the country's resources into a few non-productive hands, held call money at 10 per cent.

MEN important in Wall Street will tell you "many stocks are worth more." Everybody knows it. And big investment trusts provide a stability hitherto unknown.

"But the powers are evidently determined to stop speculation at any cost, and probably can do it."

THE difference between European and American finance is the difference between a Monte Carlo roulette wheel and a wheel of the old gold mining days in the West.

The miners sat around a wheel with two zeros and an "eagle bird," which meant that the bank's percentage was 12 per cent on every bet made.

THE Federal Reserve and the others in power would say frankly what they mean to do instead of treating the investing public as a farmer treats his Thanksgiving turkey, chopping its head off without warning.

INDIVIDUALS seeking to create ill feeling between the president and Secretary Mellon will fail.

It has been represented that President Hoover, ignoring Mr. Mellon, ordered publicity of facts as to refunds on income taxes, collected in excess of the amounts due.

The fact is that Mr. Mellon outlined Twister Also Strikes Jacksonville, Nearby, Causing Damage.

ANNISTON, Ala., March 22.—Two small children were killed, and eight other persons were injured today by a tornado which struck Merrellton, Ala., near here.

FLOODS POUR THRU LEVEE GAP

QUINCY, Ill., Mar. 22.—A gap in the Indian Grave levee along the flooded Mississippi river early today caused inundation of 7,000 acres of rich farm land. Indian Grave levee is three miles north of Quincy.

With the waters of the Mississippi rapidly eating away the dike it was feared that before tonight the remaining 12,900 acres in the Indian Grave drainage district will be flooded.

Residents of the district, leading live stock and with household goods they could carry, have fled to the bluffs south of the break. A heavy loss is certain as thousands of acres were already planted with wheat and alfalfa.

CITY SCHOOLS CROWDED, M'VAY REPORT WARNS

Half-day Sessions Loom Next Fall, He Says.

FIGURES CITED

Four Hundred Fifty Pupils Will Enter High School.

Because of congested conditions in the elementary schools, half-day sessions loom in several districts next fall, Superintendent C. S. McVay advised the board of education last night in a report showing probable enrollment figures for the 1929-30 term.

Half-day sessions prevail in the first grade of the Lincoln school this year, with indications of this plan for both first and second grades next year.

A like situation exists at the Garfield and Horace Mann schools in East End. As additional rooms will be required for high school students in the Central building next year, rooms now used for elementary purposes must be vacated.

The school chief's report showed that approximately 450 eighth grade pupils will be promoted into the high school in May. Of this number, McVay estimated about 400 will return to school in September. The enrollment of the sophomore, junior and senior classes next term is estimated at 775, making the high school total 1,175. The present enrollment is 1,100.

Parent-Teacher Requests.
Parent-Teacher association delegations from the Washington, Glenmoor, Lincoln, Grant and Pleasant Heights schools inquired regarding the proposed school bond issue which will be submitted to the voters at the fall election.

The Glenmoor delegation, headed by John Graham, urged that provisions for an eight-room building there should be included in the building program.

Voters of the Lincoln highway district, Graham said, would support the proposed bond issue, almost to a man, if the board would guarantee better schools to replace the portable buildings in the Ross Meadows section.

The Washington school committee asked for the removal of a partition between two of the rooms to provide

PETER J. GROH HELD IN STATE RUM INQUIRY

Executive Locked up on Prohibition Agents' Charges.

BOND IS DENIED

Marked Money Alleged To Have Been Used In "Bribery."

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Mar. 22.—Mayor Peter J. Groh, of Dover, Ohio, near here, was thrown in the county jail here today and ordered held without bond, allegedly in connection with an investigation of "liquor traffic" made by three state prohibition agents.

Names of Agents Withheld.
Names of the prohibition agents were not known, and efforts to reach them failed.

Little else could be definitely established except that Mayor Groh, who is serving his second term in public office, was in jail and that he is held without bond.

Apparently well-founded reports say, however, that the dry agents, using marked money, "bribed" the mayor to allow a transport of liquor to be run through his city.

Groh is 50 years of age. In the recent William Durant $25,000 contest for the best means to stop liquor violations, the mayor submitted three essays.

Dover is immediately adjacent to this city. It has a population of about 8,000.

Bribery Charged.
COLUMBUS, O., March 22.—(INS.)—"Bootlegging; Bribery; Public official."

Those words leapt into the limelight again today when Mayor Peter J. Groh, of Dover, was thrown into the county jail at New Philadelphia, charged with accepting bribes from liquor runners, who sought to transport their illicit product through the southern Ohio city, according to Rupert R. Beetham, state prohibition commissioner here.

"Crooked officials are the biggest handicap to prohibition law enforcement. I would rather catch one crooked public official than 100 bootleggers," Beetham declared.

Mayor Groh was arrested when Ed Little, "aco" of the state dry enforcement squad, succeeded in "buying protection" from the mayor for a "mythical" carload of liquor that was to have been run through Dover. According to Beetham, Groh accepted $50 from Little, besides making a

KENT RECTOR IN ST. STEPHEN PULPIT HERE

Rev. Harry Buxton
Preaches Lenten
Sermon.

BORN IN CITY

Things Seen Temporal, Unseen Eternal, He Declares.

The Rev. Harry Buxton, of Christ's church, Kent, formerly an East Liverpool resident, unequivocally declared in a Lenten sermon in St. Stephen's Episcopal church last night that things seen in life are temporal while those unseen are eternal. The appearance of the Rev. Mr. Buxton brought the concluding sermon from visiting clergymen for the Lenten season to the church. One week-night preaching service of the series yet remains, that of next Thursday night, when the rector of St. Stephen's the Rev. R. C. Caulk, will preach. "We have been fed during these Lenten services with preaching of a high standard and quality," said the Rev. Mr. Caulk. "They have been beneficial and well attended. It is a particular pleasure to have with us tonight as the concluding preacher of the series the Rev. Buxton whom I have known for some time and who continues to be 'Harry' to many of you."

Cannot See Power. Referring to his former East Liverpool days, the Rev. Mr. Buxton declared: "I am pleased to be home again. I was brought up in this church and from it was recommended into the ministry. Some of you have known me as a little tot and a big tot. I am glad to see before me so many I know and regret to note those who are absent. Even since I was last here four years ago I am reminded that many have gone to their reward." He initially gave a vivid picture of a dangling wire which a boy, filled with curiosity, touched only to be dashed lifeless to the ground. "The lad's body when picked up weighed just as much as when a few moments previously he had dashed eagerly to the spot," he observed. "It was composed of the same carbon, oxygen, hydrogen and other ingredients forming it, but something had passed from it instantaneously—power and energy."

Quotes Apostle Paul. "His life had fled. Who ever saw life and power. Science can explain electricity and life, but none has seen either. We see only their effects. A stick of dynamite is an inert thing yet it can reduce a huge wall to debris. Yet none can see the power inherent in the dynamite stick. "A seed is an ordered mass of tissue. You plant it and from it will grow an oak, but none can see the power that brought all this about. "You can tear off the coverings of the human brain, even cut into it, but you can not find the mind. And the human mind is the greatest force in the world."

"All force and power is unseen. Paul was thus right when he affirmed that 'things seen are temporal, but those unseen are eternal.' Some Men Afraid of Religion. He mentioned the presence of a small steel bar in the Bureau of Standards at Washington which visitors are asked to bend. Doing so they observe no results until a dial is disclosed which registers the slightest pressure thereon.

"And there are men who are afraid of religion because they can not note its workings," he explained. "These affirm that its devotees are weak and sentimental individuals who are not strong enough to accomplish things with brute force. Since none has seen God, they do not think He can be understood. Such aver there is no right or wrong. They contend that in many places in Africa it is all right to murder and steal if one can get away with it. They aver morality is the result of custom and that ethics change with each succeeding generation."

He held that the ideals of Christ went back to Christ and that he but broadened and deepened those inculcated in the ten commandments. "Nations and individuals disregarding His ideals have gone into discard and ever will," he pointed out.

Easter— and Handkerchiefs

Again this Easter—remember your friends with Handkerchiefs. For women—French handkerchiefs—printed or embroidered in gay colors are smart. Of course, there are all types of white handkerchiefs to send those who prefer white. Dainty evening or dinner handkerchiefs designed for ornament rather than use. Women's Handkerchiefs ranging in price from 25c to $3.00.

Always first on the list to give a man are the cord and tape border styles with hand rolled hems. If you know his color preference, you'll find it in a novelty printed center or border.

Add that touch which makes a Handkerchief doubly welcome—a monogram. The new two-toned monograms give a note of smartness to an all-white handkerchief. Men's handkerchiefs priced from 25c to $1.75.

NET MESH HOSE

Not An Hour in the Day When Mesh Isn't Smart

There's something more than novelty at the bottom of this popularity of net mesh hose. Here's the secret. Mesh hose seem much more sheer than they actually are. They have the appearance of a web-like delicacy; yet they wear as real sheer-ness never could. Ergo! In the delicate mosaic of today's frilly wardrobe net mesh hose are perfect.

Around the clock they go! Lisle mesh for active and spectator sports—$1.50 the pair.

Silk mesh for dressy daytime and evening wear—$1.50 2.95 and $3.75.

Foundations for the Moods, the Mode and the Frock

Whatever the individual fancy dictates—whatever the season demands—whatever the frock or the occasion requires—from the daintiest of bandettes, garter belts, side hook girdles or step-ins to corsettes that restrain persuasively every line of the figure—there's a correct and appropriate Bien Jolie Foundation.

The Spring styles emphasize the vogue of sheerer and softer material, fashioned into garments of supreme loveliness and charm. And more and more, the natural curves of the figure are being revealed—subtly, yet unmistakably. Come in and see the New Bien Jolie Foundations. Wide range in price.

BY C. H. HADDOX. COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 22.—(INS)—Decision to recommend adoption by the house of the Kuhn's joint resolution, providing for a testimonial to Orville Wright and his deceased brother, Wilbur, inventors of the aeroplane, was registered by an unanimous vote yesterday by the house motor vehicles committee. Gasoline Tax Bill Approved. Although the house highway committee, by a vote of 10 to 3, at a hearing last night, registered its approval of the Sullivan bill raising the state gasoline tax to four cents from three cents per gallon, administration leaders today voiced the hope that this bill will be killed.

Instead of providing revenue for township road construction through an increase in the gasoline tax, these leaders favor an appropriation of about $1,500,000 a year from the state's general revenue fund for use in improving township roads. It was admitted, however, that if this latter plan is consummated, it will be necessary to reduce appropriations for new buildings at state institutions, universities and colleges about $1,500,000 a year.

Enforcement of Traffic Laws

Columbiana county motorists who are unmindful of the fact that regulations governing traffic are applicable on rural highways as well as city streets, will find themselves facing charges at Lisbon, unless they heed the warning of Sheriff J. W. Barlow.

The county's chief law enforcement officer has announced that instructions have been given his deputies to arrest automobile drivers who park their motor cars without lights at night along rural roads. And, too, he intends to enforce the law against the so-called "one-eyed" automobile, as well as demand restrictions on speed.

Sheriff Barlow, whose campaign is aimed especially at automobile petters, has asked the co-operation of municipal authorities in coping with this problem, complaints concerning which have been made during the last few days.

Comparatively few motorists fail to take cognizance of the law regarding parking, but too many of them forget the meaning of "reasonable" speed. And it is violation of the latter law that is partly responsible for the mounting death toll in traffic accidents.

Law observance pays. A hint to the wise should be sufficient.

Dawes For Ambassador

It is to be hoped that there is solid foundation for the current report that President Hoover favors General Charles G. Dawes for ambassador to the Court of St. James. It is to be questioned whether, among all of our 120,000,000, one could be found better equipped to improve existing relations between this country and Great Britain. A happier choice could hardly be possible, nor one more opportune.

At a time when Europe is about to readjust reparations on the basis of a remodeled Dawes plan, what could be better than to have the one responsible for that plan in close touch with the conferees to whose judgment the matter of reparations is submitted?

The British like positive characters. They admire a man who will talk plainly, and not only mean but also stand by, what he may say. It is as natural to a Briton to be outspoken as it is for him to breathe, and while he may not always agree with one alike outspoken, he admires him no less for having an opinion and being willing to express it.

General Dawes, as ambassador to London, would present America to the British as she is and not as many of them are inclined to assume her to be. He could be depended on to represent American interests in such a manner as to protect them to the full and at the same time win the liking, esteem and respect of Britain in so doing.

And then there is the other side of the man which would have its appeal—the highly-cultured side, the artistic side—the side brought out in greater relief by its contrast to that phase of his character displayed by his unswerving course in business and governmental matters and relations.

And to those who know him well, it will be a toss-up which man will more appeal to the British—the cultured gentleman, composer, musician and art expert and patron, or the business executive and patriotic citizen.

They Made Wall Street Famous

The first generation of Wall street money kings, the men who in the late 1800s built the family names that are monuments in American finance today, were as picturesque a lot as fate ever gathered into a single group.

Russell Sage, for instance, who would spend a half-hour bargaining over some trivial purchase with a store clerk—a half hour that might have been worth thousands of dollars if spent at his desk. The elder J. P. Morgan rarely spoke, but nodded, smiled or frowned his answers. The nerve-wracked, full-bearded little Jay Gould, the blustery Collis P. Huntington and Clarence Stedman, banker and poet, with twin white beards like the sails of a full-rigged clipper, were others who attracted attention.

Henry Irving Dodge, veteran Wall street reporter and friend of the great for two generations, sketches an intimate picture of the men who made Wall street famous, in The Elks' Magazine.

Sage's peculiar ideas of thrift were as puzzling in his own day as they are to our time, says Dodge, who tells of one visit to the financier's home on Long Island. Although Sage even then was probably in the $100,000,000 class, his home was that "of the well-to-do village merchant," relates Dodge. A large coal stove, a plain table covered with a common checkered cloth, and kerosene lamps were the chief features of the living room.

Dodge also tells of meeting Sage in a leading department store of the day, where he was bargaining for an alpaca office coat priced $125. But Sage's quaint economies were not fostered by parsimony, he points out, since at the time he was giving away millions of dollars to charity—usually in his wife's name.

Of his many talks with the elder Morgan, Dodge relates: "I never found him a hard man to approach, but I don't remember a half dozen occasions when he uttered a word. Always it was a nod, or an inscrutable smile, as if it were easier for him to move his head than his tongue."

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 22.—Each year at seed-time the department of agriculture looks over the country through the eyes of its thousands of trained field agents to spy out the land and the prospects for the coming crop year to establish a basis from which to start its estimates and forecasts of production. The reports of the field agents are coming in and they show that the winter has been hard and that spring is long in coming over most of the country.

"Whatever the growing season may develop hereafter, it is not making a very early start" is the outstanding and constantly repeated message coming into Washington.

The United States as well as the rest of the world will be affected in this crop year by the extraordinarily cold weather which has visited the northern hemisphere during the winter of 1928-29. During the past month snow and cold waves have visited many sections of the north and west in the United States. Livestock has suffered severely in the range country, and even in the south and on the balmy Pacific coast winter crops have suffered damage.

The department of agriculture reports that even in the south in this country the preparation of the land for the spring planting has been greatly retarded.

With considerable winter killing of winter wheat and with the planting of spring wheat long delayed by a backward spring, the prospects for farm relief are extraordinarily good. After all, despite the ravages of winter, the world as a whole can raise enough food. The farm problem in the United States has been year after year one of over-production meaning, of course, low price. So if there is a short crop of winter wheat this year and, as the result of delayed planting, a poor crop of spring wheat, prices of that great world commodity will rise to points which will gladden the farmer's heart and reveal that nature can do more to bring farm relief by timely employment of a few cold waves and heavy snowfalls than all the legislatures of the world.

Wheat, the major staple, is a world crop and the price in every country, is governed by the world supply. With prospects of a short crop in Europe as well as well as here, there seems to be little doubt about better prices.

Such a winter has not been known for generations. The effect of its after-breath on the outturn of the world's food supply for the coming year is becoming a matter for serious consideration. Grain crops, sown in the fall, have suffered a great deal of winter killing everywhere. These fall sown crops, in ordinary seasons, lie under a blanket of snow which keeps them moist and not too warm so that in spring they are ready to shoot forth at the first warm weather. But during the past winter, in many parts of the world, the frost has been so heavy, reaching, according to reports, to such fabulous temperatures as fifty degrees below zero, that the seed has been stricken in the ground, its germinating potentialities stilled. All this means re-seeding.

But ever re-seeding is affected adversely by such weather. Preparations for spring work on the land are unusually backward all over the Northern Hemisphere. The snow is long in going off and is leaving the ground so deeply soaked and washed out by floods that ploughing has been seriously delayed.

Already, the department notes, wheat prices are rising. It is reported that the demand—perhaps an anticipatory demand—already is increasing. Orders for wheat from exporting countries are increasing steadily and, since the last harvest, shipments have been 100,000,000 bushels more than for the previous season. Europe had no particular surplus even last year.

Delay in preparing the land because of the late spring also is having its effect on corn prospects and therefore on prices. Hogs are higher, too, as hog production is directly dependent on corn production. They are running $1 to $2 per hundredweight higher than this time last year. The corn farmers as well as the wheat farmers this year stand in the way of making substantial profits. Although one winter is the growing season in the Argentine Republic which has become an important source of export corn, reports from there show that growing conditions have been poor and a smaller crop is expected. This will mean a larger world demand for American corn. Farm stocks held are less than a year ago.

Cotton is lower and may possibly go lower still for the intense cold so disastrous to many other agricultural products is favorable to cotton in that it can be depended upon to kill billions of boll weevils hibernating in the ground. So, although, the backward spring may delay planting, when the plants do start growing there will be a diminished threat to them from the destructive insect.

Altogether, it would appear that the prospects of the farmer are vastly brighter. A weighted index of prices shows prices of farm products to be higher while prices of the things the farmer has to buy—that is, all other commodities of general normal use—remain unchanged.

The pioneer movement for the establishment of kindergartens in the United States was led by Miss Elizabeth Peabody of Boston, who on becoming interested in Froebel's writings, went to Germany in 1867 to study his system. The first public kindergarten was opened in 1870, but shortly abandoned. "To him that lives well," answered the hermit, "every form of life is good."—Johnson.

Since Rosalie is just learning to pilot an airplane, she will have to be content to fly to her favorite chair in the sitting in a comfortable chair in the cabin. And since she is going to be dressed any warmer than if she were on a train or in a closed automobile.

If the ship should take a nose-dive into some farmer's creek, Rosalie would at least be appropriately dressed. She's wearing a wool jersey swimming suit under her woolen skirt and jacket, the latter lined with silk to match the dots in the swimming suit. She may also wear the skirt belt in the water.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Thoughts while strolling: The fascinating foreign periodical counter at Brentano's. Gorgeous cushions for Persian cats. Irene Hayes, the Park avenue florist. Lull house shoe shops. H. I. Phillips, a New Haven, Ct., boy, who made good in the city. Phil Baker and Alleen Stanley.

That crowded co-operative cafeteria. Something about a red-headed man. Dr. Joseph Collins who writes of love and things. And sports a goat. Nothing makes a house so friendly as a window box of blooming flowers. What's become of Mencken's syndicated articles?

A chestnut vendor with velvet coat and a big ring in his ear. A stray dog with wispy eyes sniffing at a cafe grating. Lee and Jacob Shubert. They say they never forget a slight. Neither do I, but what does it get me? No one seems entirely satisfied with a clipping bureau.

Bill Robinson, who is a celebrated colored tap dancer at 53. One of the most tragic figures in New York to me is James Stillman, the banker. Whatever became of milk crocks? Airplanes taking passengers for twenty-minute rides over the city. The Von Hindenberg doorman. Mike Keefe, ask any one in Cincinnati.

Ladies with shiny nails and run-over shoes. Richard Bennett and his daughter Joan—appearing in the same play. Grantland Rice graying, too. Those fortress-like warehouses with a single entrance. So many are enticed into a magic shop, but few buy. What's become of the fighter with a name like uncorking a bottle.

O, yes, Pippo.

The Warwick—where many movie stars stop. And the Buckingham, where May Allison lives. The Japanese fish store on Sixth avenue. And the parrot that recites "Mandalay." Allison Smith, New York's only woman dramatic critic. Broadway's odd desolation—when traffic is suspended. Spaghetti joints, ravioli dens, oyster bars, chili caverns—but no haunt like Jack's. What became of the Hippodrome's diving tank? Bench warmers beginning to drift to Bryant Park. Five hurrrup lunch rooms smack in a row. Back home they are making spring soup in big kettles.

New York hostesses are unable to set the dinner hour later than 7 o'clock. Those who have fixed the hour at 8 or 8:30 face a "strange" in-

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

"Do not kiss me. I don't want to get sick."

Newark, New Jersey, has a sensible health commissioner.

He is my friend, Dr. Charles V. Craster, who is ever alert to maintain the health and well-being of his city and all its citizens.

Commissioner Craster has worried over the dangerous spread of colds, pneumonia and other diseases of the breathing organs of children. He is determined to do everything humanly possible to spare the innocents.

What do you suppose this progressive man purposes doing? He is going to send to every baby born in Newark a bib printed with the warning I quoted: "Don't kiss me. I do not want to get sick."

All the old fogies will laugh at this. Too many persons who should know better, will laugh at it. But everybody who realizes the infectious or contagious possibilities of colds and other diseases of the breathing apparatus, won't laugh. They will wonder why somebody didn't do such a thing long, long ago. Bravo, Dr. Craster!

I doubt if anybody in the world loves babies more than I do. I am positively rude at times, stooping over a baby carriage to get a glimpse of a sweet, smiling baby. It is a sight for sore eyes.

Of course you want to kiss the baby. I wanted to kiss mine and I am afraid I did, too many times. But I know better now.

There is not so much business nowadays for the old-time cowboy, with his pistols and aggressiveness. I can suggest a real place for the cowboy, however, a place more important than the one he filled so well a generation ago. Let's put him on guard to keep the babies from being kissed!

Do you know that a man with a hard cold or the influenza, who sneezes in a crowded street car and falls to cover his face—do you know that he is really more dangerous than a man with a loaded pistol? If a crazy man fired one shot into a street car he might inflict a painful wound, but his chance of killing somebody is not nearly so good as the sneezer has.

"Droplet" infection, that is the infection from the infected secretions of a person with an infectious disease of nose, throat or lungs, is a real menace to the public health. Kissing a dear little baby by such a person should be made a state's prison offense.

If you must kiss the baby, kiss the top of the head, or the back of the neck. By the way, that's a fine place to plant a kiss. That sort of a kiss may tickle enough to make the baby laugh and it won't do any harm. But, I beg of you, don't kiss the baby on the mouth.

If the baby could think and talk and knew the significance of it, I am sure it would say in uncertain tones: "Don't kiss me, I don't want to be sick."

C. M. T. Q.—What will increase the growth of the eyelashes and if they have been broken off is it possible to have them grow in again to their normal length?

A.—Try application of 1% yellow oxide of mercury ointment to the eyelashes at night before retiring. If used regularly there should be improvement.

G. W. E. Q.—What is the cause of pains in my hip joint running down to my ankle?

A.—You are probably trouble with sciatica.

J. E. V. Q.—What causes gases in the system?

A.—This is due to faulty diet and poor elimination.

Other Editors Say

Taking It Philosophically.
Political observers are amazed at the academic calm which prevails throughout Great Britain with a quinquennial general election only two months ahead. The unusual placidity is all the more inexplicable in view of the fact that a complete destruction of Tory ascendancy is among the recognized possibilities.

The Tory government, which for five years has been operating with the support of a topheavy parliamentary majority, is far from popular. Its great strength in the beginning was due both to a splitting of the progressive vote between the Liberals and Laborites and to the defection of many progressive voters who were disgusted with the Liberal disintegration and the failure of the Liberal-Laborite coalition. No one, not even among the Tory leaders, believes that a majority of the British electorate is in sympathy with the reactionary and imperialistic policies of the Baldwin government. And yet the best bet is that the Tories will win in May.

The reason is that the old Liberal party is hopelessly moribund. Many Englishmen who have no admiration for Baldwin and Chamberlain and who would vote for Liberal candidates if they could do so without wasting their votes will vote once more for the Conservatives rather than give their support to the Laborites. Others will consider the Laborites the lesser of two evils and will swell the Labor vote without enthusiasm.

The labor party will gain, the Conservatives will lose, but the Conservatives can suffer huge losses and still maintain a parliamentary majority. The indifference displayed seems to be due to a general feeling that what is to be will be. With the Liberal party out of the running because of suicidal inefficiency of its recent leadership a great many intelligent British voters contemplate with lethargy an election which they believe cannot go right, however it goes.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Nothing—not even a camel smell—is left to remind New York of old Madison Square Garden. A 34-story building of a life insurance company occupies the historic site. There is one room 50 feet below the surface where its wealth is cached. It has steel walls three feet thick and swinging doors at each end of the room weigh 30 tons. Get a load of that on your tummy, you bad, bad burglar.

One of those female precisionists who insists upon her legal rights was annoyed by a lady in front of her at the theater who did not remove a tight-fitting turban. "Please remove your hat," she demanded testily. The lady did, and a wild crop of frizzed hair ballooned out all over the place, almost completely obstructing the view. And two guesses only for the identity of the fellow in D-4 nearby who tittered behind his fan all evening.

An art gallery proprietor had as a customer the other day the wife of a newly rich gentleman. She inquired to know if he had any ancestor pictures.

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundy.

Whis is More Important?
If you are a golf player your thoughts may be turning to beautiful greens and fairways.

You are anxious for the weeks to pass along so that you may swing your driver and make those chip shots and putts which your imagination has pictured during the Winter months.

In your golf game or in any line of sport in which you engage you exhibit great interest and vigor.

Have you ever entered upon your daily job with the same spirit?

If you should, would there not be great improvement in your production and increase in its volume?

You are willing to make every possible effort to concentrate on all your shots in golf, yet your daily work you do in a dull and routine style.

You do not try to become enthusiastic over your bread and butter job. Instead of exerting yourself you try to get through with as little effort as consistent with holding yourself on the payroll.

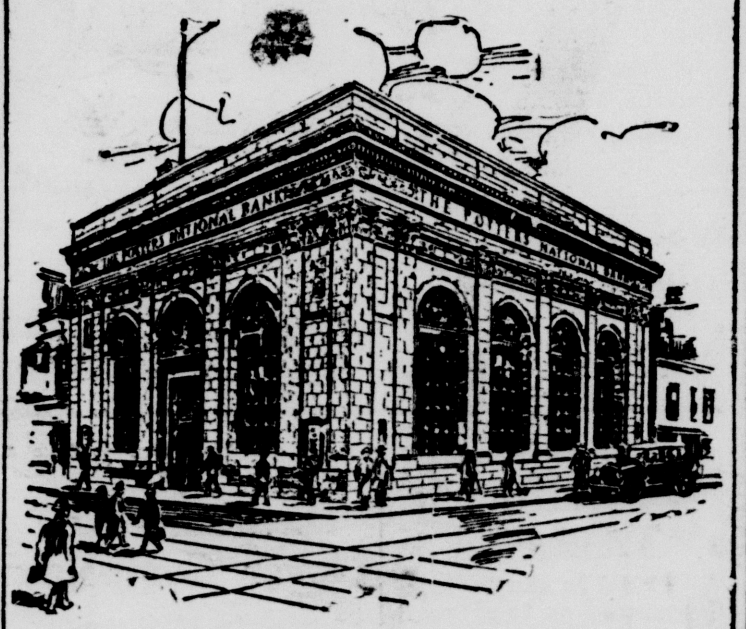

Isn't it more important to do your best in the business that furnishes you a livelihood rather than in amusements you could not enjoy but for your job?

Do You Say

"IF" or "WHEN?"

Do you say "If I have the money" or "When I have the money?" There's a lot of difference. "If" implies that you doubt you will ever have it, while "When" indicates that you have plans to get it.

Thousands of people have changed "if" to "when" at Potters National Bank, you can, too—if you will.

Steamers Liberty and Betsy Ann Due Here Tonight.

A crew of ten men from Dam No. 8, with Lockmaster E. M. Ellis and Captain E. A. Hayes, crew foreman, in charge, went to New Cumberland, W. Va., today to repair the wickets at Dam No. 9. Two divers were members of the crew.

The stage at Dam No. 8 at noon was 14.8 feet, with the river falling one-tenth foot an hour.

Steamers Liberty and Betsy Ann are due here tonight, enroute to Pittsburgh.

An order requiring 3,000 tons of steel plates and shapes for barge construction was placed in the Pittsburgh district this week. The Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation received a contract from the Woods Brothers Construction company, Lincoln, Neb., for the construction of 30 steel deck barges. These barges will be each 125 feet long, 26 feet wide and 6.6 feet deep and will be used in contracting work along the Mississippi river.

The Jones and Laughlin concern now is building 10 barges for the same firm, five of which are now being delivered by the Elsey River Transportation company of Pittsburgh, which established a weekly harbor service out of the Pittsburgh harbor to Cairo this week.

The steamer City of Pittsburgh, with Captain Calvin Blazier in charge of the Carnegie Line of steamers, passed Greenville, Miss., yesterday on her way to New Orleans with a tow of steel barges loaded with steel products. The steamer Monongahela of the same line with Captain John A. Hottell in charge passed Carruthersville last night on her way to Pittsburgh. The latter steamer has a tow of six barges loaded with sulphur and nine empties for the Pittsburgh harbor. This boat is making excellent time with a big tow pushing against flood waters of the Mississippi. Work has been started loading another tow for April delivery.

The American Bridge company expects to complete an order of eight standard coal barges for the West Kentucky Coal company, Paducah, Ka., this month. The barges each 175x26x11 feet are being constructed on the Ambridge ways, Ohio river.

The Elsey River Transportation company, Pittsburgh, yesterday sent out the steamer Maggie May with two steel pontoons for delivery to Paris Point on the Tennessee river. The motorship Belfont of Ironton arrived in the Pittsburgh harbor yesterday with a tow of empty barges.

Captain R. C. McCullough, superintendent of the Allegheny and Ohio rivers, was allotted two steel barges and a steel derrick boat for use in the Ohio river, Pittsburgh district. Six steel barges were turned over to United States Engineer E. H. Beechley in charge of the Monongahela river for use on that stream. This equipment formerly was used during the construction of locks and dams in the lower Ohio river.

FEDERALS HOLD MAZATLAN AS REBELS ATTACK

Mexican Insurgents Under Cruz Outnumber Carillo Unit.

AID IS ASKED

Gen. Calles Orders Almazan Troops Into Chihuahua.

(By International News Service.) Despite the assaults of the rebels and their superiority in numbers, Gen. Calles' federal troops are still holding the important port of Mazatlan, according to Mexico City advices today.

The federal garrison in Mazatlan is believed to number 2,500 men, while the rebel force of Gen. Roberto Cruz, which is attacking the federal trenches and redoubts, number about 5,000. The 6,000 federal reinforcements ordered from Torreon to relieve the Mazatlan garrison are expected to reach the scene of conflict tonight.

Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, commander in chief of the federals, has ordered Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan into Chihuahua with 13,000 men to give battle to the rebels in that state. Gen. Almazan's army consists of 12 regiments of infantry, 16 regiments of cavalry and one regiment of artillery.

Decisive Battle Looms. MEXICO CITY, March 22.—A decisive battle loomed today for the possession of Mazatlan, Sinaloa, largest Mexican seaport on the west coast now in the hands of the federals.

A powerful rebel force of between 5,000 and 6,000 troops led by General Roberto Cruz has been viciously attacking the federal force of less than 2,000 at intermittent intervals during the last 24 hours, but at last reports the federals still held the city.

At the request of General Calles, commanding the defenders, General Almazan has rushed 6,000 men from Torreon to augment the federal forces in Mazatlan.

Schools Crowded

larger quarters for meetings of the parent-teacher organization and also for assemblies of the students. The board instructed the buildings and grounds committee to seek estimates on the proposed improvement for both the Washington and Lincoln buildings.

McVay's Recommendations. Superintendent McVay reported that the only solution of the crowded conditions here was the building of a junior high school building in the downtown section and possibly a combined junior-senior high school building in East End. The establishment of a new high school in East End, he declared, would relieve the congestion in the downtown high school and would also mean a saving in street car fare to parents of children in that section of the city. Standards of the proposed East End high school, McVay declared, would be on the same level as those of the downtown school.

While $500,000 has been mentioned as the probable amount for the proposed bond issue, the opinion was expressed last night this sum would be insufficient. The board plans to make a survey of the district before a decision is reached.

The visiting delegations extended an invitation to members of the board to speak relative to the need of new schools as soon as the plans assume a definite form. The board indicated that a campaign of education to acquaint the voters with the dire need of the district for additional schools would be waged before the election.

A. C. Moore, principal of the Sixth street school, asked the board for permission to conduct a summer school here during vacation. The application was filed for future reference.

Seeding of the baseball field and the construction of an additional sewer along the west side of the tract to drain surface water from the Standard Oil company's property was discussed. J. R. Daugherty, Youngstown sanitary engineer, who planned the improvements to the lot, will confer with the board tomorrow.

More automobiles were introduced into France in 1928 than in any previous year.

MAN SNATCHED FROM MINE TOMB

KINLOCH MINE, NEAR PARANASSUS, Pa., Mar. 22.—Twenty-six hours after he was entombed in the Kinloch mine blast, Lawrence Allshouse, 28, walked into the arms of a rescue team 8,000 feet from the mouth of the mine at 9:35 a. m., today and collapsed.

He was revived and rushed to the surface, where he was taken to the emergency first aid station.

by possibly giving rise to false hopes. But Taylor and others in charge of rescue operations were determined to press forward into the unexplored sections as rapidly as possible, spurred on by the hope that lives of some miners may be sustained for a while longer, if they are not already dead.

"If there are any more in there alive," said Taylor, "no time is to be wasted. We must make every effort to reach them immediately and that is just what we are doing. We hope to have every part of the mine explored before noon."

TODAY

a plan for publicity more complete than congress had suggested.

PRESIDENT HOOVER approved the plan as submitted by Mr. Mellon, and at Mr. Mellon's request, issued an executive order, putting Mr. Mellon's plan into effect.

There is no good reason why the government should retain taxes collected illegally, and no reason why any governmental official should hesitate to publish all facts, provided no business secrets of firms or individuals be revealed improperly.

THE figures will show that any refunds, big or little, have been offset, 10 to 1, by additional sums collected on account of inadequate tax payments.

This government does not desire to work injustice. Citizens should not be compelled to go to law to obtain justice, and it is the aim of the tax department to make that unnecessary.

ROME announces construction of a "pontifical railroad train" of five cars, to be built for the pope.

One car will contain a pontifical throne and dining room, a second a chapel and a bedroom, a third quarters for the papal court.

There will be space for servants, and two locomotives are assigned by the Italian minister of public works to pull the train.

This indicates the pope's intention to travel extensively, now that limited restoration of temporal power has put an end to confinement within the Vatican.

RUSSIANS have been busy in India, making a backdoor attack on Britain that drove Russian business out of London.

Intense excitement in Bombay, British police and military guards stationed at strategic points, marked the arrest of Hindu Communists and seizure of their literature.

Other arrests were made in Calcutta and Poona.

HINDU Communists, accused of waging war against the British king, are fairly well equipped with catchwords of Bolshevik communism.

But they are not equipped with weapons, do not know how to use them, and probably would not use them if they had them and knew how.

THE agitation is interesting as proving Russia's activity and persistent ignoring of the fact that you cannot make a rope of sand, or a successful revolution in a country like India.

GREGALACH WINS BRITISH CLASSIC

AINTREE, Eng., March 22.—(INS.) Gregalach, owned by Mrs. M. E. Gemmell, of England, won the grand national steeplechase today over a heavy field.

Easter Hero, J. H. Whitney's entry, and favored at the start to win finished second.

Richmond II was third. Out of between 60 and 70 horses which started, only 13 remained after the eighth jump. Easter Hero was running strong among the leaders of the field.

Gregalach paid 100 to 1; Easter Hero paid nine to one, and Richmond II, 40 to one.

Gregalach won a purse valued at about $65,000 for his owner.

BIBLE MEASURE APPEARS DOOMED

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 22.—The Bible bill, which would require the reading of ten passages of the Bible daily in the public schools of Ohio, appeared today to have been committed to the legislative "graveyard."

The proposed law is believed to have received its "death blow" at a meeting of the house schools committee last night, when State Director of Education John L. Clifton, speaking from a prepared and lengthy statement, declared he could not see how the measure, if enacted into an Ohio statute, could be enforced.

Penalty for violation of the measure, as provided for in the bill would have been the dismissal of the teachers if they failed to comply with the daily reading of the Bible.

Debate over the bill lasted four hours and a half, and at the end of that time, opponents of the bill were confident that they had committed it to the burial ground, or in other words "action on the bill was indefinitely postponed," which means that the measure will never get out of the schools committee.

THOUSANDS VIEW BODY OF FOCH

PARIS, Mar. 22.—The body of Marshal Ferdinand Foch, France's beloved warrior, reposed in state in the grand salon of his home today, while an officers' guard of honor stood watch and thousands filed past his bier in silent homage.

The simple soldier who, living, shirked glory as much as he could, is to be honored in death as no other military chief of modern times has been honored.

For two days before he is accorded a national funeral on Tuesday, the Marshal's body will lie under the Arch of Triumph beside the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

His last resting place will be in the chapel of Les Invalides beside the remains of Napoleon Bonaparte.

TAKES BLAME FOR SAVING NOBILE

Hailed on his arrival in New York as the hero of the Nobile rescue, Captain Einar Lundborg, Swedish aviator, with his wife, stated that he alone was guilty of persuading the "Italia's" commander to leave the rest of his party, acting on orders from his superior officer to bring back Nobile.

"TOW ROPE KING" FACES PRISON

CLEVELAND, Mar. 22.—Mortley W. Pyle, the "tow rope king," whose confidence scheme left a long trail of victims through Ohio, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, was given a three-year term in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta today when he pleaded guilty to fraud charges before Federal Judge West. John C. Shaffer, his "sick" partner, was sentenced to 16 months in the same institution.

Pyle sold a large number of "rope making machines" throughout the east and in Steubenville, Cleveland and other Ohio cities, telling his victims he would attend to the sales end of the business if they would manufacture the ropes. Pyle's reason for selling a share in the business, his story was, that his partner was sick and could not attend to the manufacturing. The business, he would declare, was making large profits. After the victim had been duped of sums ranging from a few hundred to thousands of dollars, Pyle would disappear, police said.

Dover Mayor Jailed

monthly arrangement. Groh has been making such arrangements with various liquor runners for two years, the state prohibition director charged.

The seriousness of the charge is reflected in the fact that the mayor was held without bond.

Story of Arrest. The complete story of Groh's arrest as told by Beetham to an International News Service reporter is:

"A man came to my office two weeks ago, asking why I did not 'clean up' Dover. This man said he knew that the mayor was accepting protection money."

"I assigned Ed Little to investigate. Little is a former federal man, and was the agent that led the drive in the 'clean up' of Steubenville and Lancaster."

"Little went to Dover last week, and set himself up as a dealer in vacuum sweepers." Here Beetham smiled. "Soon, through various connections, Little became acquainted with the mayor, and succeeding in arranging 'protection' at the cost of $50. Monthly dividends were to be given to the mayor. Little used marked money, and this money was found on Groh."

"When Little informed me, I ordered him to throw Groh in jail and to see that he was held without bond. John Cole, Steubenville dry officer, assisted Little."

Beetham's Statement. Beetham said that the finding of 500 gallons of whisky in a broken-down truck in Harrison county, which had been towed by a car bearing a Dover license plate, also led to the investigation.

After telling of the plot, Beetham issued a formal statement, which follows:

"If local enforcement won't enforce law, let them get out."

"Whenever we get good officials, everything can be taken care of properly."

"Crooked officials are the biggest handicap of prohibition enforcement."

"As much as I would like to catch a bootlegger, I would rather catch one crooked official than 100 bootleggers, because if it were not for them law enforcement would be easy."

"This is in line with my 'clean up' policy."

STUDY IN CONTRASTS

According to statisticians, it was just ten years ago that the word "flapper" was first used in England to describe a very young girl. America borrowed it, put its own interpretation on it, and made it famous. But does the origin of the word matter? The important thing is that the picture on the left, showing a typical "flapper" of a decade ago, has nothing in common with the contemporary flapper. Judge for yourself. Now in the picture on the left it is really up to us to imagine that the lady possesses certain of her "important" members. But Miss 1929, on the right, leaves no doubt in anybody's mind—she definitely has ankles and arms and legs—and how?

me to marry him. He tells me if we quit going together he will never go with any one else. Shall I marry him and be happy and make him happy.
BROWN EYES.
BROWN EYES: If you love the young man and you have your parents' consent to your marriage, by all means do so. And I wish you the best of luck and great happiness.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am a girl in my teens and I am keeping company with a young man. We have been going together about three months. He tells me he cares for me, but I don't care for him. I like to go out with him because he shows me a good time. I wish you would give me some advice on what to do.

UNDECIDED SUE: If you like the young man sufficiently to accept his attentions, there is no reason why you should not go out with him. But if you feel that he is becoming serious in his intentions and you cannot reciprocate the feeling, then do not let him monopolize all your time. Go out with him occasionally, but not to the exclusion of your other friends.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I have been very friendly with a young man for two years. He has left town and didn't write to me, he came back and was very nice. He has been gone again for over two weeks and I didn't receive any news from him since.
His birthday is coming soon. Would it be proper for me to send him a Birthday Greeting Card?

BLONDE: Yes, it would be very thoughtful to send him a nice friendly card on his birthday, but I shouldn't advise you to write.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am a boy in my late teens and need your assistance greatly. A young girl whom I am greatly interested in and who once showed great affection towards me, has suddenly become disinterested. I find I am deeply in love with her and would like to have your advice as to how to regain her affections. Thanking you,

HOPEFUL: Evidently the young lady has taken advantage of the fickleness of youth and found other interests and other companions. Hopeful. All I can suggest is that you try to win her attention and interest again. Knowing her better than I do, you will have to work out your own salvation. You might try taking her to shows and dances and keep her interested. If this fails, and she doesn't care for your company, I'm afraid you'll simply have to forget.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
The question has arisen among the several friends of mine about whether "Variety is the spice of life" or not. All of us are in our later teens and want to know whether we should go with a number of girls or not. We would thank you very much if you would answer this question.

BAFFLED: How in the world will you ever know when you meet the right girl, if you haven't met lots of other girls. Baffled. When you meet her, then you won't have any desire or inclination to see any other girl in the world. In the meantime, the surest way of meeting your fate is by meeting lots of people. So why worry?

ANNIE LAURIE'S TIMELY ADVICE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am 22 years old and have been married almost three years. We have not had a cross word yet. I have a wonderful husband, he does not dance but lets me go because I love to.
He has always told me he does not believe in jealousy. I tell him of the many men who admire me. But he does not seem to care. The other evening I asked him why. And he said, "To be jealous is to hate and distrust one." Do you think so, Annie Laurie, in all cases?

JEALOUS WIFE: My dear, you're the luckiest woman I've received a letter from in a long time. To have a husband who takes the sensible idea regarding jealousy is to possess a dorso and agree with your husband in his definition of jealousy. See that you don't overstep the bounds of his loving confidence.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I have been keeping company with a young man three years my senior. I love him dearly and he says he loves me. I have been going with him almost one year. A while back he asked me to marry him. Do you think I should or do you think I should wait until I get older?
Please give me your advice, whether to marry him or not.

ANXIOUS: My dear child, how can I say anything to you when I don't even know whether you care for the young man or not? Evidently he loves you, or he would not have asked you to be his wife. If you care for him and he is the man whom you feel can make you happiest, then by all means marry him.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am a girl of 17 and in love with a young man who is two years older than myself. We have been going together for over two years. He tells me he loves me very much and wants

Redskins Defeat Ceramics

World Famous Indians Ahead in 33-27 Battle.

CHICK SKELLY and his World Famous Indians, routed on a couple of previous occasions here, last night came into their own to defeat the East Liverpool Ceramics, 33 to 27, in a hard fought battle on the auditorium court.

The great height of the Indian aggregation was probably the deciding factor in their conquest. It was useless for Eddie Losman at center to try to jump against the seven-foot Hearn and it was tough to try to pick off rebound balls with Hearn and his six-foot companions reaching high into the atmosphere to pluck off the leather before it got down to where the Ceramics were waiting.

The Indians, save for a few minutes in the first quarter, led all the way, although their margin never exceeded a few points.

The standing was 7 to 6 in the opening period, 16 to 13 at the close of the half, 24 to 22 at the conclusion of the third canto.

Although Hearn's work was very noticeable, the performance of Guard Lightfoot, or Raymond West (his real name) was outstanding. It seemed that when the Redskins needed a field goal or two, this individual, fast of foot and smart with it as well, plunked one in from the middle of the court or wherever he chanced to be at the particular moment.

Hearn, however, topped the Indian scoring with 15 points while Nate Lippe led for the Ceramics. Lippe sank 17 points.

Laughlin 6-7 defeated the 4-5 quint, 19 to 12 in the semi-final. Colored Elks won from the Wellsville Immaculons, 33 to 17, and Glenmore graders downed St. Aloysius, 36 to 8, in the preliminaries.

F o u t t s Lining Up Prelim

Uncovers Promising Prospect in Irondale Slugger.

IN keeping with the headline and semi-final events on the Valley A. C. boxing program Tuesday night at Wellsville, in which Young Rudy takes on Teddy Welch in eight rounds and Freddy Edwards meets Jack McCarthy in six, Matchmaker Ray Foutts is attempting to line up punchers for his preliminaries also.

"Poison" Pizzone, who knows little else but punch, is billed against Joe Roberti, promising Midland boy, in one of the four rounds on the program.

As one of the participants in the other, Foutts believes he has a "find" in Sambo Brown, colored boy from Irondale. Sambo weighs in at 138 pounds and packs a punch like a mule.

Kenny Davis, Ward and several other local lads have been working out with Sambo and will testify to his wallowing power.

Foutts is anticipating a sell-out crowd for the Tuesday event.

AT YONKERS, N. Y.—Johnny Grosso, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., heavyweight, stopped Paul Hoffman, of Holland (4).

Hornsbay and Mates Beat Tigers.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 22.—
After having been defeated twice in succession by the Chicago Cubs, the Detroit Tigers were determined to step out and win today's game. Horns-bay and his team mates proved themselves too much for the Tiger outfit yesterday by trouncing them 8 to 4.
Hornsbay was the firework of the game driving in five of the Cubs' runs with a homer, double and a single in five trips to the plate. Marty McManus also knocked out a home run and batted in the Detroit team's four tallies.

Landslide for Yanks.
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22.—
The New York Yankees today were elated by their 10 to 1 landslide over the Boston Braves yesterday because Hoyt and Sherrid held the Braves to two hits while the Yanks collected fifteen, and because Babe Ruth snapped out of his batting slump. The Babe's new batting stance paid dividends when he rapped two singles and a mighty double to left and center fields.

It means the clothes aren't snowy white. It means there's dirt in them. It means scum forms when you put soap in the water. And that means you're using hard water. Scum always forms in hard water.

What to do? Soften the water with Melo and it is a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. No dirty ring forms. The clothes wash snowy white. Delightful suds. And you use only 1/2 or 1/3 the amount of soap ordinarily used in hard water. Get rid of that dirty ring! Get rid of it by buying and using Melo. Get Melo at your grocer's.

SHE GETS THRILL

The thrill of a lifetime came to Mrs. Frederick W. Brontch as she sat in her hotel at Brownsville, realizing that she had flown with "Lindy" from Mexico City to the Texas border town, one of the two passengers to be with the flying colonel when he made the first airmail trip.

city where the campaign is to begin on April 14.

"I left Corpus Christi on March 10," he writes. "The opening day services there were not spectacular though there was fine attendance. Mr. Sunday was so tired that he had some difficulty in adjusting himself to the large building in which the meetings are being held in Texas. This he finally did and was 'sure' hitting on 'all sixes' when I left there."

"I shall be leaving here within a few days so as to be in the final days of the Corpus Christi meeting. I think often of the East Liverpool meeting and wish to be remembered to all I met there."

During the Elyria meetings, Peterson rushed to Texas for a few weeks. The ordeal of leaving the cold climate of northeast Ohio for the mild one in Texas and returning again into the rigors of mid-winter, then at its height in this section, was but one of the incidents for which the sturdy frame of the Iowa giant was built.

GENERAL ELECTRIC ALL-STEEL REFRIGERATOR

Model G-40

IN place of diamonds, gold, and finely wrought silver that might have tumbled out when the great Treasure Chest was opened, there stands revealed a thing of greater value still—the new small-family, All-Steel General Electric Refrigerator, Model G-40.

Into this new model have been put the efforts of the scientists and engineers of General Electric Company; the same group of men who perfected the sealed-in mechanism of the General Electric Refrigerator. This new achievement of the research laboratories marks the greatest improvement during the past 30 years, in the design and construction of household cabinets.

It's all steel, with electrically welded joints. Bronze hardware is bolted onto the steel. Black faced door edges . . . self-closing latch . . . gliders to protect linoleum . . . these and many other features are built into this new General Electric product.

This new small-family model makes electric refrigeration possible in every home. Its price is remarkably low. Only a small down payment is required. The balance can be paid conveniently over a period of time. Just a few dollars a month will do it.

PUBLIC DISCOVERS HUMAN BODY AT INDEPENDENT ART EXHIBITION

By DAVID P. SENTER.

Copyright, 1929, by International News Service.

NEW YORK.—Unclad young girls on the rocks by a tossing sea—three young women playing stripped poker—a naked girl playing a saxophone—

Undressing a story is the easiest way to dress a story and newspaper reporters looking for "features" usually sized upon these angles after a visit to the thirteenth exhibition of the Society of Independent Artists held on the roof of the Waldorf-Astoria.

The human body has been a subject for symmetrical treatment by artists since it was first discovered that water mixed with sand makes clay. The public apparently never becomes body-conscious until it sees an untailored sample on a canvas or on a pedestal.

But aside from the bizarre, the eccentric and the various nudes, this present independent exhibit contains a higher grade of work on canvas and in modeling than ever before.

And despite the reputed insouciant attitude of artist toward economic return, it should hurt nobody's feelings to report that more buyers have appeared than in any year this most cosmopolitan art exhibition has been held.

More than 1,000 canvases from artists throughout the country were entered. None of them were censored except in the written word by critical reporters.

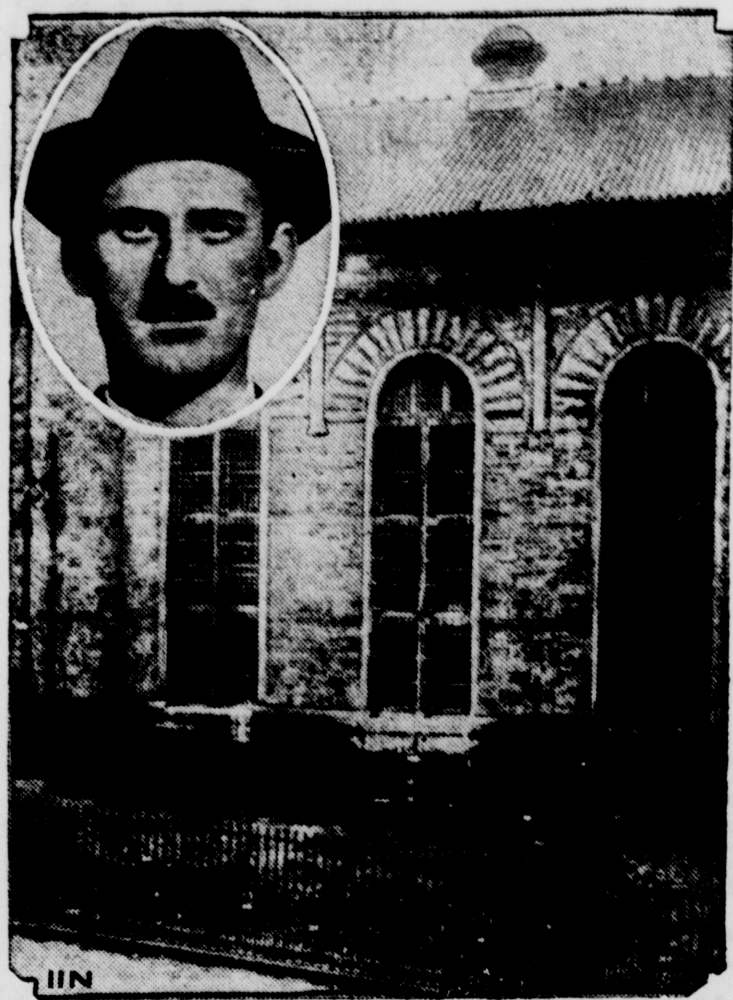

The exhibit also drew the largest crowds in its history. Many were dealers, art collectors, artists. Others were friends and relatives of the exhibitors. And a great many were rank curiosity seekers.

But officials of the exhibition reported a curiosity among these curiosity seekers. They said that a remarkable percentage of these casual visitors this year turned out to be buyers. Blame it on prosperity, a new-found culture or the new bootleggerie caste—but buy they did.

The youngest exhibitor was John Geist, seven, and right next to him came an eight-year-old girl artist, Merrie Hope.

John contributed two still life pictures of a bowl of fruit and some books. Merrie sent in two paintings.

IN AGAIN, OUT AGAIN, GONE AGAIN

Maryland's notorious criminal, Jack Hart (inset), just refuses to stay put in any jail, let alone the Maryland penitentiary (shown above), in Baltimore. This is the second time that Hart, who was confined on a life sentence for hold-up murder, has made good his escape from the same jail.

"A Scene in Maine" and a flower Karakin, nine, who entered a still life picture. Another young artist was Isabelle Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was represented in two busts and a painting. President Hoover was present in a painting. Mussolini and a modernized version of Police Commissioner Grover Whalen, of New York, also were there.

Beside modern youth, the caricatures and satirizations dealt chiefly with prohibition. In one caricature, President Hoover was holding a whistle as a scepter, and Representative Volstead, with pen and parchment in hand, sat beside him. On the other side sat Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, with the Dome of the Capitol as her crown. It was signed by Juan de Felipe.

They say a genuine princess posed for "The Worshipper," a pastel by Alfred Jackson. Her identity was kept secret by the artist.

Frank Albrecht, one of the crack printer operators of International News Service, had two paintings in the exhibit. One was called "Ruth" and was a lovely portrait of a young girl. The other was "Hydrangeas," a flower study.

Albrecht is showing brilliant progress, according to established artists, and his work attracted considerable attention.

EAST END BOYCE CHURCH REVIVAL ENDS

Rev. J. P. Wisman Speaks on "Choosing And Refusing."

Life is made up of choice, said the Rev. John P. Wisman, pastor of the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church, in concluding a three-week evangelistic campaign last night. His subject was "Choosing and Refusing."

Though the actual number will not be definitely known until Easter morning when they will formally ally themselves with the church, about 30 converts have been listed.

"A fine spirit has been developed in the congregation as a result of the efforts made in the special services," the Rev. Mr. Wisman declared last night. "We feel that victory has been ours and we look into the future with feelings of elation and thankfulness. All that was done has been very worth while."

Many attended the final services last night, which, being "Young People's night," attracted a number of the younger folks.

The Rev. Mr. Wisman based his discourse on lessons from the life of Moses which, he held, were indicative of that which comes to practically everyone now.

LENTEN SERVICES HERE TONIGHT

Lenten services will be held tonight in St. Ann's Catholic church, Pennsylvania avenue, in charge of the Rev. Father J. L. Maurer. The services will consist of the stations of the cross and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Crowds Attend Revival. Large crowds are attending the evangelistic meetings in the Second Church of Christ, Pennsylvania avenue, in charge of the Rev. W. T. Howells of McKees Rocks, Pa. Services will be held every night until Easter Sunday.

Pastor Revival Speaker. The Rev. Brooks Morgan preached to another large audience last night in the revival in the Oakland Free Methodist church. Meetings which have been in progress for two weeks, probably will close Sunday.

Church Society Social Tonight. Members of the Ladies Aid society of the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church will hold a box social tonight in the home of Mrs. C. C. Ruckman in Pennsylvania avenue.

WORLD'S TONIC, THE SYSTEMIC TREATMENT ATTACKS CATARRH AT THE SEAT OF THE DISEASE

Catarrh is an Inflamed Condition of the Mucous Membranes of the Nose, Throat, Stomach, Bowels or Wherever It Appears.

WORLD'S TONIC IS A SCIENTIFIC MEDICINE INTENDED TO ALLAY INFLAMMATION, SOOTHE AND HEAL THE SORES, PURIFY THE SYSTEM AND REVITALIZE THE BLOOD.

People often think they have a cold in the head when really they are suffering from chronic Catarrh. They find difficulty in breathing through one or the other, or both of the nostrils. This is followed by discharges of slightly colored matter from the nose, then scabs form and the discharge becomes bloody. There is a constant effort to clear the nasal passages and the throat. Usually there is a little temperature as catarrhal poisons begin to premeate the system. These poisons spread and extend the catarrh throughout the stomach and bowels. The time to fight it is when it first comes on, and there is no medicine that does this so quickly and effectively as World's Tonic, the new systemic treatment now being sold by Carnahan's.

There are many people in this city who are praising World's Tonic. They have suffered from catarrh for years without getting permanent relief. The price of World's Tonic is very reasonable and no matter whether you have failed in relief from other well known remedies, you should give World's Tonic a trial.

Real Trouble Was Catarrh East Liverpool woman suffered from her stomach for years. "In my opinion a great many people are doctoring their stomachs when their real trouble is Catarrh," said a prominent young woman of this city recently. "I know I took stomach medicine for years without getting any sort of real relief. Then I read of the World's Tonic and of people who described their troubles just like mine and how much pleased they were to find that World's Tonic quickly righted their stomachs. You see they started with cold in the head and the droppings from the back of their nose into their throat affected the stomach, with the result that food could not be digested. That was just my case. Nothing I ate agreed with me. Sometimes my stomach burned like it had coals of fire in it. My heart would flutter and I was oftentimes dizzy. I took World's Tonic and almost the very first dose made me feel better. Today I am practically rid of my stomach trouble and feel fine. I would recommend anyone else to try it."

Anyone who has been afflicted with Catarrh in the head knows how filthy a disease it is and can understand that when it spreads to the stomach or bowels, the kidneys, bladder or liver, it would be impossible to have good health. This catarrhal poison is poured into the blood and carried through the system, producing the same effect as if one had taken an insidious slow acting poison day by day.

To properly treat catarrh and get real and immediate relief, it is necessary to use World's Tonic, a systemic treatment especially prepared for this disease. It is a powerful internal antiseptic counteracting the poisons of the catarrhal discharges and eliminating the toxins from the system, helping to purify the blood while it heals the sores in the nose and throat or in other mucous linings in various parts of the body wherever the catarrhal disturbance has found a place to grow and spread. World's Tonic has brought about some astonishing results.

Let the World's Tonic druggist tell you of them. Sold by Carnahan's, also Brannan's at Wellsville and all other reliable druggists.—Adv. (238).

NEW TREAD TIRE CO. STOCKHOLDERS ASK CANCELLATION OF CONTRACTS

Emma W. Glawe and Irwin M. Elliott File Suit At Lisbon Against East Palestine Corporation.

LISBON, O., Mar. 23.—Emma M. Glawe and Irwin M. Elliott, in behalf of themselves and other stockholders of the New Tread Tire company, of East Palestine, today filed suit in common pleas court against the company, a score of other banks, a life insurance company and William O. Wallace, both individually and as trustees, asking cancellation of certain contracts.

The plaintiffs, represented by Day & Day of Cleveland, and H. E. Grosshans of Youngstown, set forth that the company was formed under Ohio laws in 1919 with 2,000 shares of preferred stock of the par value of $100, of which 766 shares are outstanding, and 3,000 shares of common stock of the par value of $100, of which 1,134 are outstanding.

The plaintiffs say the charter of the company was cancelled Nov. 15, 1927, for failure to pay taxes, but that the company still has a corporate existence.

On June 26, 1920, the petition shows, the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, issued three policies on the life of Eric Altenberger for $100,000, and that when Altenberger died in 1928 the policies were in full force.

PRAISE LORD, REVIVAL PLEA

Rev. Harry Rodgers Preaches in Church Of God.

Utilizing the 96th Psalm as a text in which the admonition is made "to sing a new song unto the Lord," the Rev. Harry Rodgers, of Cambridge, urged the constant habit of praise to the Infinite One at the Church of God revival service, West Ninth street, last night. His subject was "Praising the Lord."

Sectional singing by the congregation was directed by Miss Estella Spontman of Kittanning, Pa. She also sang "Tell the Gospel Story As It Is."

At the services tonight, several old hymns are to be selected for united congregational singing. The Rev. Mr. Rodgers will again preach.

In attendance last night was a delegation from the Salineville Pentecostal church. It was announced they would return at a later service when they will sing.

"Since the Lord is the greatest of the great why should we not constantly and fervently praise Him?" inquired the Rev. Mr. Rodgers, "when people are genuinely filled with the love of God they will not sit supinely like tombstones in church, but they will praise Him. It will be but a natural thing for them to do."

"It was because the author of the 96th Psalm was so filled with love, affection and appreciation for the Almighty that he welled forth the earnest contest to be held at Weirton on Friday night, April 19.

Bible Class Meets Tonight. Members of the Bible Study class of the Church of the Nazarene will meet tonight in the church. Meeting will be in charge of the Rev. F. F. Freese.

School Executives Meet. A. D. Osborne, superintendent of Grant district schools, attended a meeting of county school executives Wednesday at New Cumberland.

est and beautiful admonitions that such should be done. He was but noting that which followed the filling of the heart with supernatural love.

"We praise government, the president, our pastors and our friends. Why then should we hesitate to give to the greatest personage and friend of all much more praise?"

"It is not necessary to make a big noise in order to praise God."

Hankow, China, shipped more than $70,000 worth of human hair to the United States last year.

GENERAL ELECTRIC ALL-STEEL REFRIGERATOR

ANOTHER chapter has been added to the achievements of the engineers and scientists of the General Electric Research Laboratories. The same group of men who perfected the hermetically sealed mechanism of the General Electric Refrigerator, have now designed and built the first all-steel refrigerator cabinet.

This achievement marks the greatest improvement made during the past 30 years, in the design and construction of refrigerator cabinets. It means that new and far greater value has been built into the already unrivaled General Electric Refrigerator.

After the engineers of General Electric had perfected this all-steel refrigerator, they had to build the giant presses which were to cut the steel and bend it into shape; and electric welders to fuse together the folded forms at a temperature of 4500 degrees.

Millions spent for new machinery

To manufacture this new all-steel refrigerator General Electric has invested several millions of dollars in new machinery. But it has achieved its purpose. Its aim was to build the best refrigerator ever produced and offer it to the small families of America at a price within their reach.

$215 At the Factory

No refrigerator has been built in such quantities or by such efficient and economical methods. Mass production has cut costs and made possible the very low price—$215 at the factory.

General Electric has now made scientific refrigeration, which is vital to the health of the nation, possible for every home. Only a small down payment is required. The balance may be paid in easy installments—just a few dollars a month.

The only way really to appreciate the outstanding quality, the beauty, the great value of this new General Electric all-steel refrigerator is to see it. Come in today. It is now on display.

Listen in on the General Electric Hour, March 23rd, sponsored by the General Electric Refrigerator. This program is broadcast from 9 to 10 P. M. Eastern Standard Time over N. B. C. network of forty-two stations.

"RHEUMATISM IS NOW A MEMORY"; KONJOLA LAUDED

His Condition Was Considered
Hopeless; Master
Medicine Achieves
Another Victory.

MR. WEST T. POWELL.

"Thanks to the new Konjola, the rheumatism with which I suffered for years, is now a memory," said
Mr. West T. Powell, 6207 White avenue, Cleveland, Ohio. "How I tried to find escape from the clutches of this painful ailment. My efforts were followed only by failure after failure—disappointment after disappointment.
Stomach trouble added to my misery.
Gas formed after every meal, causing bloating and heart oppression. The rheumatism was so bad that I could hardly get around."

"I read and heard so much about Konjola, and the experiences of those who had tried this modern compound, that I wondered if it would help me.
Imagine my joy when I realized that Konjola was helping me. With the very first bottle I knew that at last I had found the right medicine. I grew steadily better, and the stomach trouble was relieved first. Then the rheumatic pains became less and less,
until finally they disappeared altogether.
How wonderful it is to be well again. Free from indigestion and the terrible rheumatism. I shall never cease to praise Konjola for the wonderful relief it brought to me."

Konjola is sold in E. Liverpool, O., at Carnahan drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

50 CERAMISTS WILL ATTEND ALLIANCE MEET

Spring Session of State Association on March 29.

DINNER PROGRAM

Visitors Will Inspect Leigh and Limoges Potteries.

Fifty Ohio and western Pennsylvania Ceramists will attend the spring meeting of the white ware division of the Ohio Ceramic Industries association in the Alliance Country club.

PICTURE PATTERN

IT'S CUTE

THE STYLE No. 2754 in white dimity printed in pink and blue, uses plain blue dimity for round yoke, cuffs and hem joined with blue fagoting. It isn't any wonder this dark-haired miss looks so happy in her new dress, that is comfortable as it is smart, for fullness in skirt all falls from round yoke, allowing plenty of room for freedom of activity. Candy stripe tub silk with plain contrasting pink organdie with yokes, and cuffs joined with hem-stitching which is also used to finish hem. French blue cotton broadcloth with tiny white dots with plain blue broadcloth, and Nile green chambray with yellow are cute combinations.

THE PATTERN contains a Picture Lesson in dressmaking, as a guide to save time in making this cute dress for the important age of 2, 4 and 6 years, which proves of interest to even the experienced sewer.

In ordering pattern clip the design shown or order by number, and be sure to specify the size you want. Write your name and address plainly, enclosing 15 cents and mail to Fashion Department, East Liverpool Review. From 7 to 10 days are required for delivery of patterns.

NEW FASHION BOOK containing all the Spring styles is 15 cents, but may be obtained for 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Dull, Heavy Pain in Back—Disturbed at Night on Account of Weak Kidneys

Dr. Pierce's Anuric Completely Corrected Kidney Trouble

Charles H. Porter

Fort Wayne, Ind.—"Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets are a splendid diuretic. My kidneys were giving me a lot of trouble, they were so weak that I would have to get up several times during the night, and got very little rest or sleep. I had a dull heavy pain across my back just over the kidneys. Thru the advice of a friend I took Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets and they have so completely corrected my kidney trouble that I never have to get up at night and be broken of my rest. My kidneys are functioning naturally and never give trouble in any way."—Chas. H. Porter, 750 W. Superior St. Druggists. Write to Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.

FLYING COLLEGE IN CALIFORNIA CATCHES INTEREST OF AVIATORS

By HOMER H. METZ,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK.—Out in California, military and aviation experts will watch with keen interest the first non-profit endowed college of aeronautics to be established in the United States.

Captain G. Allen Hancock, Los Angeles banker and capitalist, who was the backer of the famous "Southern Cross" flight to Australia, is opening the college at Santa Maria on May 1.

The college will be patterned after the army and navy flying schools, with the same curriculum and semi-military discipline. According to military men in San Francisco, a graduate with Class A rating will be ripe for army service.

Lieutenant Ross McBride of Los Angeles will head the faculty, while the Los Angeles, former manager of the Los Angeles Philharmonic auditorium, has been appointed director of recreation and welfare.

Every phase of flying and airplane mechanics, including experience with many makes of planes, will be taught at the college. Aerobatics, or stunt flying, will be a part of the advanced work because it is important in military maneuvers and emergency work.

Special emphasis will be placed upon "instrument flying" instruction. Experiments have proved that expert flyers can be deceived as to balance, speed and direction when they trust their senses instead of watching their instrument boards, and this is thought to be the cause of unexplained crashes of experienced pilots.

Air transport companies, which are entrusted with delivery of United States air mail, flew a total of 10,472,024 miles on regularly scheduled routes and carried 52,934 passengers during the year 1928, according to Aircraft Year Book figures just released by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce. This shows an increase over 1927 of 420 per cent in passenger traffic and 100 per cent in mileage flown.

Incidentally, the figures also show that twenty-three new passenger lines aggregating 6,451 miles were either launched or extended to other cities during 1928. The total number of single and multi-engine planes employed by the air transport companies was 294.

The new New Mexico City to Brownsville, Tex., airmail route, which Col. Charles Lindbergh inaugurated with a hazardous flight over the Mexican war zone, was let to Pan American Airways by Postmaster General New on February 7 for a bid of $2 a mile. Seven bids were received and while Pan-American's was not the lowest, it was the only company able to meet the requirements of the Mexican postal authorities. The contract runs for 10 years and provides a one-way service. The Mexican Aviation Company, a subsidiary of the Pan-American, has the contract for the return mail, but uses the same planes.

American Legion posts in Massachusetts have been asked to lend their support to a campaign to "air-mark" all towns in the state. The State Supervisor of Aeronautics and various local chambers of commerce are behind the drive.

Merle A. Moltrup, airmail pilot of Colonial Western Airways, Inc., recently received a letter of appreciation from the Chamber of Commerce of Silver Creek, N. Y., for saving the lives of two children trapped in a burning house. Moltrup noticed smoke and flames issuing from the house while passing over the town on Tuesday, March 5. By circling at a low altitude and racing his motor, Moltrup attracted the attention of townsfolk who followed his course with their eyes and discovered the fire. Firemen succeeded in breaking into the house and saving the children, although the structure was completely destroyed.

The National Air Races will be held at Cleveland this year from August 24 to September 2. These races were held last year at Mines Field, Los Angeles and attracted numerous well-known flyers.

Some of the results of President Herbert Hoover's good-will tour to South America are seen in an announcement by the Chance Vought Corporation of Long Island City that it has signed contracts to supply a number of observation planes to the governments of Cuba, Argentina, Mexico and Peru. The company opened an extensive sales campaign in the countries visited by Mr. Hoover immediately after the good-will tour was announced last December.

St. Louis is soon to have another large airplane manufacturing plant. The Wright Aeronautical Company of Paterson, N. J., has announced its intention of establishing a plant in the Mound City for the production of the "Gypsy Engine" for light airplanes.

Amusements

"CANARY MURDER CASE" SCORES

"The Canary Murder Case," which as a novel swept the country, is even more enjoyable as a moving picture than it is as a book. The great detective story, written by the mysterious S. S. Van Dine, opened its three-day run at the Ceramic theater last night.

For thrilling, swift-moving action, free from the hokum and "tricks" which characterize many so-called mystery pictures, "The Canary Murder Case" is a perfection of writing, action and directing. Each step of the stirring story is revealed to the audience as the plot progresses, making every spectator a part of the gripping drama.

Paramount, in order to produce a picture that would do justice to the story, went to great pains in putting everything into the filming of it that would accomplish the desired result.

In choosing the cast of players for the respective characters in the picture, Paramount assigned actors of special talent to the outstanding roles.

William Powell, who portrays the part of Philo Vance, amateur detective, is one of the few actors in Hollywood whose services are in demand continuously.

Margaret O'Dell, known as the "Canary" and around whom the story is based, is played by the versatile popular actress, Louise Brooks.

The cast is further enhanced by James Hall, whose rise to popularity was meteoric.

Hall, as Jimmy Spotswoode, gives an excellent performance.

The sweetheart of James Hall in the story is the talented Jean Arthur, whose beauty and ability won her a place in the ranks of leading women.

Others in the cast are Gustav von Seyffertitz, Louis Bartels, Charles Lane and Lawrence Grant.

STORY OF RITZ AT AMERICAN

"Children of the Ritz" opened last night at the American theater before a capacity audience that enjoyed the Dorothy Mackaill-Jack Mulhall combination in the new First National story.

A flashing, dressy picture it proved to be, with an absorbing story of

New York society life and a cast of handsome young things who are good to see and also capable players. Given a story that begins where many picture plots leave off, they work surely and consistently to a fine climax and satisfactory conclusion.

The story is of Angela, daughter of the fabulously rich Penningtons and Dewey Haines, the family chauffeur, whom she marries when her father is ruined and Dewey has come suddenly into a modest fortune. They move to the Ritz and the modest fortune starts melting away. How fast it melts, and what results is the picture.

Deserving special mention for good work are James Ford, Doris Dawson, Kathryn McGuire, Edward Burns and Lee Moran of the supporting cast.

WEDS HEIRESS

The secret wedding of the former Barbara Guggenheim (top), sister of the Countess of Castel Stewart of England, to Fred Wettsch, Jr. (below), noted horseman, has surprised all their friends. The heiress to the copper millions and the young horseman had been friends from childhood.

PHYLLIS HAVER WINS AT STATE

An innovation in the custom of employing music to assist in creating the proper atmosphere was introduced by Director Howard Higgin during the making of "Sal of Singapore." Phyllis Haver's Pathe star picture now at the State theater.

Almost the entire action of the picture takes place aboard an ocean freighter. Hence it was desirable to mould the moods and thoughts of the principal actors into those of veteran seamen. To this end a male quartet was secured and during much of the livelier action they sang typical sailor's songs now little known, according to several ocean veterans who were working among the extra players.

Phyllis Haver has the starring role of "Sal of Singapore," with Alan Hale playing opposite her. Fred Kohler, Nohile Johnson, Dan Wolheim and Jules Cowles are the principal members of the cast.

"Sal of Singapore" was adapted by Elliott Clawson from "The Sentimentalists," a novel by Dale Collins. It is a great sea picture abrim with dramatic action and grim humor. A seven-month-old child has an important role.

Chile is to have a new railway.

Table Linen Demands Hand Washing

Caressing White Hands Every Woman's Right

Wash Linens This New Way—Keep Hands Satin-Soft

SPOTLESS table linens—soft as only hand washing can make them—are as much a mark of social knowledge as good manners. To have them—impeccable and flawless—and, at the same time for the housewife to have caressing, white hands is a problem that has now been solved an interesting, new way.

Use any kind of soap, soap powder or soap flakes, in washing linens. But add a teaspoon of CLIMALENE to the water.

This enables you to use ONE-FOURTH the usual quantity of soap. For it softens the water instantly, so that far less soap is needed. Thus avoiding any danger of "soap eat" or fading, so fatal to fine fabrics.

Then by bland cleansing elements IN ITSELF, CLIMALENE acts to gently DISSOLVE any food stains, grease or dirt in things being washed. Thus they emerge soft, spotless, utterly without fading.

Containing superlative SKIN WHITENING AND SKIN SOFTENING ingredients—used by scores of beauty specialists—it leaves the hands soft and lovely beyond words.

VANGUARD

A Highly Amusing Story of a Romance
Aboard a Millionaire's Yacht.

By Arnold Bennett

One of the men at the mooring-buoy waved a hand and blew a whistle. The engine-telegraph rang out sharply. The harbor-master grandly lifted the stern mooring-props from the bollards on the quay; they splashed into the water and were pulled out dripping into the ship.

The sun had not yet visibly risen, but the great affair of dawn was in fact begun, and there was light on the sea and gleams of sunshine on the pale summits of mountains above La Turbie. The air was fresh, chill, tonic. Captain Slapsie, thinking that at that hour no drink, not even beer, could rival tea, experienced the thrill of British satisfaction which was always his on quitting a foreign shore.

The first delicate throbbing of the propellers vibrated through the ship. The harbor-master saw the space between the ship's counter and the quay widen—oh, so gradually, scarcely perceptibly, but inexorably. The water under the counter was churned white. A hawser which had slackly held the stern to another buoy further up the harbor lifted itself out of the water, grew taut till it strained and cracked as it in pain. The men in the dinghy raced away to the distant buoy. The ship swung round by the stem. More whistling. More engine-telegraphing. The ship, with infinite, cautious, creeping deliberation was heading for the open Mediterranean. An electric donkey-engine hauled in, with a fierce rattle, the long rope from the distant buoy. The dinghy flew after the end of the rope, like a man striving to catch a train which is already in motion. The dinghy overtook the yacht, and clung to her mighty side. Falls were lowered, and the dinghy snatched up out of the sea to the very top of its davits. The severance from the shore was complete.

A few sailors who were swabbing the decks of the other yachts gazed curiously at the slow-gliding ship. Captain Slapsie waved a negligent hand to some dignitary of equal rank on one of the other yachts. The Vanguard slipped between the breakwaters and began to pitch indolently to the swell of the Mediterranean, described a curve, and then he was on a roll. The twin squat towers of the Casino showed themselves astern. The engine-telegraph rang once more. The propellers revolved more rapidly and the ship spread a white, streaming tail. The sun, appearing from its secret lair behind Montone and the Italian frontier, struck the ship in full force and clad in bright glory. Lastly, Captain Slapsie lit a cigarette.

Lord Furber ascended out of the bowels of the ship and fixed himself in the very easy-chair in which Harriet Perkins had sat awhile during the dead of night. He wore his splendid dressing gown, an aggregation of colors which seemed to meet the sunrise on almost equal terms. He spoke to none of the men engaged in making the ship's toilette; and nobody ventured to accost him, for it was plain that, as not infrequently happened, he desired mental solitude. He had asked for nothing in the way of food and drink; he had not even rung for Mr. Bumpion. His mien was calm, conquering, grim.

Relief
There he was, borne along in the vast and self-sufficing organism which he had brought into being for the extension of his own individuality and the extinction of his ennui. With him on board were near upon eighty other individuals, and they were all (except Septimius Sutherland) his servants and the subjects of his whim. He had his cooks, his bedmakers, his cleaners, his washers, his technicians, his experts of varied categories; and his desires were their law. The cooks cooked the dishes that he desired in the fashion that he desired. The beds were made as he desired. The ship was cleaned (within limits) as he desired. The men were dressed as he desired. The ship was steered as he desired at the speed he desired. Not a soul (unless it might be the transient Harriet Perkins) could or would say him nay. He was absolute master. The Mediterranean itself seemed to be his; for not another craft could be descried upon its surface. The sunrise had obviously been engineered by nature, specially for the completion of the phenomenon of his pride. And he had naught to do but give orders. He rarely even signed the checks, the magic oblongs of twisted paper which rendered possible the enormous and complex miracle; the checks were signed by his secretary and a director of a limited company which in its turn was but another manifestation of his individuality.

Thus he lolled automatically in the wicker fauteuil, while the organism functioned in perfection, and his mind went back to the years when he had thought out his earliest inventions in a ramshackle shed in the narrow garden of his father's cottage, and washed himself in a tin can in the scullery sink, and never worried about his fingernails and very seldom had a bath (for in those days no cottage had a bathroom).

He had the right to marvel at his own gifts and force, and he did marvel at them, as his eye roved around the beauty and the efficiency of the moving Vanguard. Nobody could be more free than he was, and few could enjoy a more assured and agreeable dominion.

Nevertheless in those moments he escaped, and a sensation of running was aware of a sensation of danger of wrath.

But that he had indeed successfully fled beyond any risk of pursuit caused a sardonic and victorious smile to lighten his face.

"Hello, Sep!"
Mr. Sutherland had ascended also, and Mr. Sutherland's demeanor, as well as the fact that he had forgotten himself so far as to affront the yacht's public in a dressing-gown, indicated that Mr. Sutherland was in no ordinary mood.

"Good morning," said Mr. Sutherland. "But what's this?"

"What's what?"
"We appear to be at sea."

"We are."
"But you never told me you were leaving Monte Carlo."

"I only decided after I left you last night."

"My dear Furber, I wish to God you had warned me."

"Why?"
"I was intending to go back to London this morning."

"But you never told me!" the Baron exclaimed.

"Still, you knew that I couldn't stay on board with you indefinitely. And I should have thought that as a mere matter of courtesy—Where are you bound for?"

"Strong words for Mr. Sutherland!"
"Oh! Depends on the weather. Perhaps Algiers."

The Baron did not argue; he bluffed it out. But he was a little afraid of Mr. Sutherland. He could have wished that he had had the wit to warn Mr. Sutherland and put him ashore.

About this time of the early morning Harriet rushed into the sitting room of Lord Furber. She was dressed in black and the keys of office jingled at her waist. She looked and felt tired; which was not surprising, since she had had scarcely any sleep—after an emotional evening and two quite full glasses of champagne. Also she was in a state of considerable excitement, which fatigue was intensifying.

"Oh! It's you!" she exclaimed, and stopped.

The Honorable Luke was loling in the Baron's armchair. He, too, seemed to be rather exhausted, and his fine fair hair was less smooth and glossy than usual. But to Harriet, with his blue yachting suit, club necktie and virginal white pincurls, he presented an agreeable, even an adorable spectacle—a spectacle which appealed to her in the most disturbing manner, perhaps partly because of his evident forlornness. He did not move at her entrance—merely gazed at her like a melancholy child.

"Do you know where Lord Furber is? Is he up?"
"I think he's on deck," Luke wearily answered.

"Oh!" Harriet was rushing away again.

"I say," he stopped her.

"What's the matter?" She spoke as to a boy.

"Did you know we were leaving this morning?"
"Of course I did."

"Well, I didn't. Hadn't a notion of it. They awakened me at 6 o'clock with a message that he would want me at 7:30. As if I should take an hour and a half to dress myself!"

He yawned. He was ineffably attractive, and not unaware of this important fact. Harriet knew that she ought not on any account to linger. But she lingered.

"The poor little thing's out of sorts," she gently teased him. "What time did it go to bed?"
"Not till long after 1."

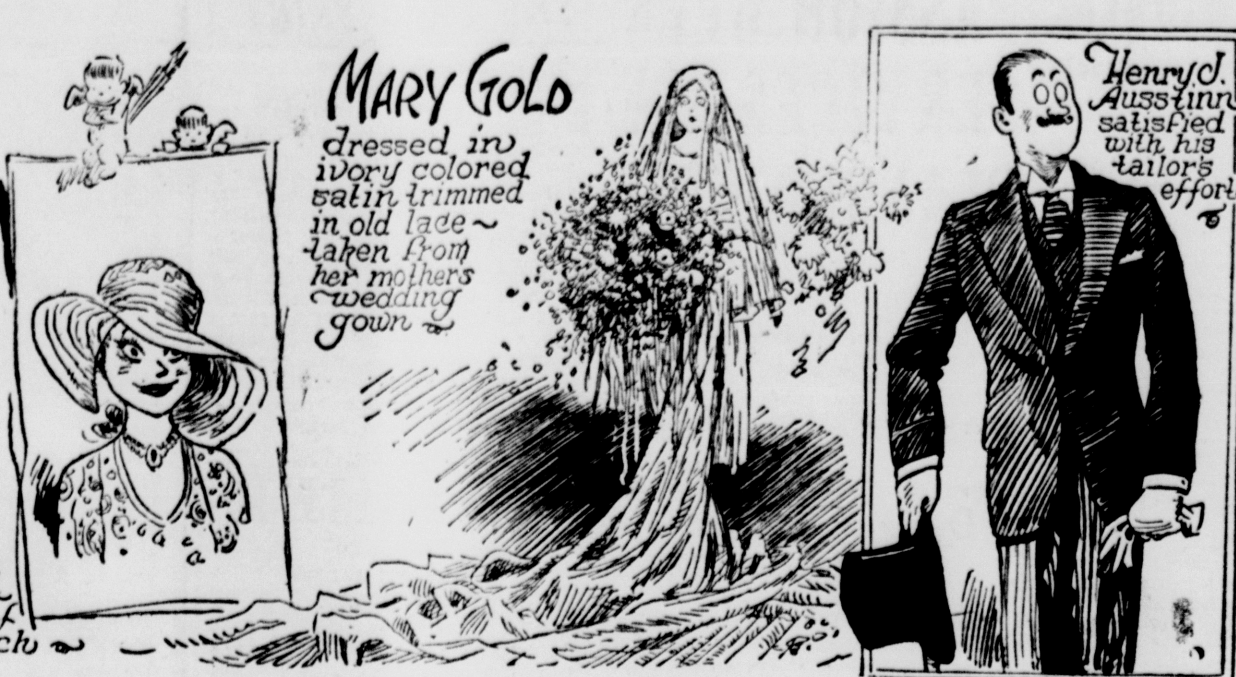

"Why not?"
"Well, if you really want to hear, I waited outside the club for I don't know how long."

Owa-Ton-Na Proves First Medicine to Reach My Troubles

Suffering From Kidney and Stomach Disorders Respond to the Use of This Fine Old Indian Remedy When Time After Time, Other Methods Failed.

Surprising indeed are some of the marvelous benefits obtained by the use of this natural remedy, Owa-Ton-Na, by eager health seekers in E. Liverpool and vicinity. These results however, are not remarkable to one familiar with the good that has been accomplished by Owa-Ton-Na in thousands of cases all over this broad land. Time after time it has given new hope to discouraged suffering humanity. These results are obtained not through the use of harmful, doping deadening drugs; but by nature's own roots, herbs, barks and berries. A laboratory representative is now introducing and explaining Owa-Ton-Na to eager health seekers in E. Liverpool and can relate case after case where Owa-Ton-Na has restored health.

One of the interesting cases where Owa-Ton-Na has proved its merits is that of Mr. J. H. Grimm, 927 St. George St., East Liverpool, long time sufferer and employed as a potter by Hall's China Co. He says, "It is certainly remarkable the way this medicine works. Why, for years I have been seeking for something to relieve my stomach and kidney disorders. I had almost got to the point that I believed there would be nothing to help me."

"Almost any kind of food distressed me. Gas and bloating spells seemed to follow every meal. Gas would crowd my heart and cause it to palpitate and make me feel faint. My kidneys also caused me a great deal of trouble, dizzy spells and headaches were the results. At times it seemed that my whole body ached. Almost every night I was forced to get up on account of kidney and bladder weakness. When this fine old Indian Remedy Owa-Ton-Na started to do its work, I could notice a big change in my condition."

"I feel better now than I have for years and my appetite has improved wonderfully and food doesn't distress me as it used to. My kidneys, too, act more normal and each day I can see where Owa-Ton-Na is bringing me back to a more normal condition; and I know it won't be long until these old troubles are a thing of the past and believe me I am not going to be without a bottle of Owa-Ton-Na in the house all the time." I recommend Owa-Ton-Na to all sufferers and know that if they give it a fair trial, they, too, will benefit by its good results."

Owa-Ton-Na is nature's own remedy just as pure as eating celery, lettuce or dandelion. If you are suffering, why hesitate another day. Call at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 E. 6th St. and have a talk with the special laboratory representative who will be glad to tell you all about this fine old Indian remedy. ## CONFESS SIN, PASTOR URGES

Rev. W. B. Ward in Free Methodist
Pulpit.

"Persons covering their sins will not prosper, but merely will be vouchsafed those who confess and forsake them," declared the Rev. W. B. Ward, of this city, at the Free Methodist church revival, Avondale street, last night, where he substituted for the pastor, the Rev. S. E. West.

Two persons accepted the altar invitation following the sermon. It was announced that the pastor would fill the pulpit tonight.

"The baptism of the Holy Spirit is the only way by which sin can be kept from being covered," Rev. Mr. Ward said. "The covering of sin began in the Garden of Eden.

"Despite all that is being done to hide sin God knows all about it. He knows the heart of every one. Yet in all walks of life sin has been and continues to be covered.

Magazine Publisher Will Assist Chicago
Evangelist.

WEEK'S SERVICES
Meetings Will be Held
In First U. P.
Church.

Dr. Gerard B. Winrod, of Wichita, Kan., will assist Evangelist Paul Rader, of Chicago, in a one-week campaign in the First United Presbyterian church here, commencing Easter night, March 31.

The two men, in a conference last January, agreed to go about the country and in every state in the union, establish centers from whence the fundamentals of the faith in Jesus Christ will be distributed as a basis of an active campaign to restore the orthodox viewpoint that once was held in a majority of churches everywhere.

Dr. Winrod is a young man and a scientist who is the publisher of a magazine known in the religious world as "The Defender." By it the doctrines of fundamentalism are vigorously defended.

The campaign will form a memorial for the late Will Weaver, long an elder in the First Presbyterian church and for years superintendent of the

"It is natural for people with evil within them to cover their shortcomings. The need is to stop all sin business. We can if we will to do so.

"God is able to forgive even the sins that are covered up. But they must be confessed and later forsaken.

"It is hard to get people to confess their sins to God. It is sometimes necessary to adjust some things with man.

"When conviction comes and the confession to God with the straightening up of that necessary with those about us, then it is certain that the sinner is on the way to victory.

"Moses said, 'Be sure your sins will find you out.' Some way they will ultimately come to the surface.

"If confession could be omitted many would be glad to get right with God. And there are others who reach points in which they would be even glad to confess under any circumstances, but find they have not time in which to do so.

"He that covereth his sins shall not prosper; but who so confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy."
